Louise Mallette,
Senior Associate

"The transition coaching made a huge difference in my work and personal life: better understanding who I am and what is important to me; what I want and what I don't. Louise had me write a letter to myself and date it a year out so I could see what I wanted to do with that year. That was the beginning of my plan. I feel like a new person."

- Coaching Client

Louise Mallette has been an internal and external coach and consultant for more than 25 years working with healthcare, pharmaceutical, technology, financial services, manufacturing, higher education, and non-profit organizations. Known for her ability to think and facilitate creatively, Louise leverages these talents to help individuals and organizations get from point A to point B with minimal disruption. Her current work focuses on catalyzing leadership, team, and organizational development in the context of the "new normal".

She is on the Board of Directors of the Human Resources Leadership Forum and is co-chair of the marketing committee. Louise is also on the Board of Directors for the Laboratory Safety Institute and is co-chair of the strategic planning committee. She is a member of the Organization Development Learning Group and the International Coaching Federation, and is a participant in the Boston Facilitators' Roundtable. She was recently appointed to the Skidmore Alumni Association Board of Directors to lead career and professional development. She is certified in the Myers-Briggs Type Indicator, the Hay Group Emotional and Social Competency Inventory, and regularly utilizes the Birkman First Look, the Thomas-Kilmann Conflict Mode, Explanatory Styles, and the Kouzes Posner Leadership Practices Inventory assessment instruments. Louise has a Bachelor of Arts in English and Government from Skidmore College and is a Certified Coach from the Hudson Institute of Santa Barbara.
